A letter from the director:

From The Desk of Joe Ing

June sure turned out to be great for Haywood County. The Solar Farm and the Mega-Site Project will happen. After some very tense moments in Nashville the funds for both projects were approved. We can expect to see major changes to Haywood County within the next couple of years. We certainly hope many good paying jobs will be heading our way. We look forward to the Walking Horse Show coming to Brownsville July 10th; this is always a huge show with many visitors coming to Haywood County. July 15th will be our Kids Day IV. We look for over a thousand children being with us at Volunteer Park for a day of fun and learning. If you would like to help this year, please let us know. Please remember if you are a business, industry or individual who needs some worker's; please contact the Chamber so we can post them on our web-site. As always the Chamber thanks you all for your support of our work to improve the life of all of our citizens.

Until next time folks remember "YOUR CHAMBER NEEDS YOU"

See you soon,

Joe Ing

Executive Director

USEFUL TIPS FOR BUSINESS OWNERS/MANAGERS

THE CHOICES WE MAKE WITH CHANGING TIMES

Learning to become a quick-change artist

There are many choices to consider when we are facing changes in these economic times. We can embrace change as an opportunity to grow and improve or we can fight it and become angry and bitter. Learning to become a quick-change artist does not mean that you will make light of life's tough times. It means that you face any change head-on. Being a quick-change artist also means that you are able to regroup and move from feeling confused and uncertain to being a problem solver who finds new opportunities in change.

Here are some performance prompts to assist you in these changes:

Become a quick change artist by being flexible, adaptable, resilient and unafraid.

Lead rather than follow the change process.

Show others the way by displaying quick change-artist characteristics.

Look for new opportunities when change occurs.

Take responsibility for the change process.

Focus on end results.

Keep your sense of humor.

Keep an objective perspective.

Be supportive of those around you; your customers, your co-workers and management.

Ask yourself:

What do I need to prioritize?

What do I need to learn?

What skills do I need to develop?

How should I communicate during the change process?

Who do I need to align myself with as we change?
